"Power With, Not Over" _ Women's History Month: March 2025

March, 2025 was a busy month. I am pleased and grateful for the launch of my 14th book and book signings, the honors I have received from the Marin Women's Hall of Fame in California, and the opportunity to engage with the women and men at this year's United Nations Commission on the Status of Women in New York, with the theme "Power With, Not Over." Please see the highlights below, visit jeanbolen.com for more, and follow me on Instagram, Facebook, and Medium.

Each year, dozens of nominations are reviewed and an independent selection committee narrows the field to five women to be inducted into the Hall at the Marin Women's Hall of Fame Induction Dinner and Celebration.

Ever Widening Circles and Mystical Moments Autobiographical, Historical, Spiritual, Psychological & Political

Ever Widening Circles and Mystical Moments is my memoir that invites readers to journey through my life interwoven with personal experiences and historical events. The book begins with my childhood, marked by my Japanese American family's forced relocation from California following the bombing of Pearl Harbor. This experience—along with my early eye surgery and frequent moves to different states and schools where I was perceived as an "exotic other"—deeply impacted my worldview and led me to pursue a career as an author, activist, psychiatrist, and Jungian analyst.
